REDBIRD Reference: WSSA-1757, para 1, a, of 10 July 1950.

1. The following explanation has been received from [] concerning a message received from the Hugo Station on 4 June 1950. The text of this message has previously been reported in our above reference.

2. In connection with the text of the message [] reported the following explanatory remarks:

a) That JANSON is an operational name used by the Latvian representative who was landed with Tilestone-Baker. He is now maintaining radio contact through the Valdemar Station. He is occasionally referred to as Valdemar.

b) That MAX is an operational name used by the Estonian who accompanied Hugo on Tilestone-Baker, and who is identical with the Estonian who died from illness en route to his destination.

c) In reply to our inquiry concerning the transmittal of the name DEKSNYS on clair we received only an indirect answer inferring that it had not been transmitted as such. However, in view of [] KEB sent vague reply we feel rather certain that this security breach had been committed. In reply to our query [] denied this break, presuming that acknowledgement would perhaps injure their operational prestige with us.

3. Since the writing of the above reference, no more recent texts of messages from the Estonian Stations have been received from []
